March Highlights

Seventeen members registered for our membership luncheon on February 10. An additional twelve members registered to attend virtually via Zoom. After two months of virtual attendance coupled with our face-to-face luncheons, we have found this is a great solution for those who want to participate but cannot be there in person due to restrictions. We will continue the virtual option for as long as needed.

WAP welcomes three new members; Triad Metals International, BMG Marine and Kosmos Cement.

Recent highwater events caused by spring melt off were cause for the shutdown of several locks. Both the Navigation Committee and the USCG reported industry responded well to the fast-moving situation. Drift can also be an issue – See an example in our Photo Gallery.

There is major concern regarding the 2023 planned Montgomery Lock construction shutdown currently scheduled for 6 months. It will be important for industry to work with the USACE to come up with a schedule that allows commerce to continue during this important construction event. See the Navigation Committee and USCG Reports for details of these and other events.

The Stonewall Jackson Reservoir 25-year master plan has been published. This plan holds great importance to our membership. Use this link to visit and review the plan.

Navigation Committee Report

Dave Podurgiel, Vice President provided the following report:

- Operating conditions are near normal following a High Water event.
 - We had a significant flood event on the Monongahela and Ohio Rivers which started the weekend of February 27th. By Monday morning the following locks were out of service.
 - Pt Marion (Mon Mile 91) Major Flooding
 - Grays Landing (Mon Mile 81)
 - Maxwell (Mon Mile 62) directly above Alicia Docks
 - Charleroi (Mon Mile 42)
 - Lock 3 Elizabeth (Mon Mile 24) directly above our WEL landing

- The three upper Ohio River Locks between Pittsburgh and Mile 33 had their auxiliary chambers go out and gate openings that made it unsafe to transit till Wednesday.
- All locks on the Ohio River System hit Action Stage.
- Greenup Lock (OR Mile 341: Main Chamber culvert valve scheduled repairs 16 February through 11 March 2021 (Phase II) Average Delay 42 Hours. Locking has been suspended due to drift conditions.
- On Wednesday, 3/3/21 a virtual Navigation Stakeholder Engagement meeting was held to discuss upcoming Lock projects. This is a joint meeting between USACE and Industry. Multiple red flags came up with their scheduling plans starting in FY 23 (starts Oct 2022 w/ USACE) through 2024. The biggest Red Flag was starting in October 2022, Montgomery would have three shutdowns that basically shut the lock down for 6 months out of twelve.
- Below are the numbers, which are recorded from a Main Chamber closure at Montgomery from April 24th through June 8th. During this time frame we passed 1,709 barges in 989 hours which equates to .58 hours per barge, or 1.72 barges per hour. In 2019 Montgomery passed a total of 17,309 barges (9,841 Loads and 7,468 Empties) which is 56% of barges are loaded which equates to 8,655 barges in six months. $8,655 \text{ barges} \times .58 \text{ hours per barge} = 5,020 \text{ hours}$ needed to pass the 8,955 barges. $5,020 \text{ hours} / 24 \text{ hours per day} = 209 \text{ days}$ needed to pass the 8,655 barges.
- Needless to say, operating only 183 days we would only be able to move 7,578 of the 8,655 barges. This amounts to 1,077 barges we could not move. If we consider 56% of the barge move as loads, is 603 loads @ 1,500 tons/load = 904,500 tons of commodities that could not transit the lock.
- The plan is to start dialogue with the Pittsburgh District USACE soon incorporating the Navigation Committee to help, this is unacceptable, and we have the support at the national level.

Coast Guard News

LTJG William Russell, USCG, provided the attached report.

National Weather Service

Alicia Miller of NOAA Federal provided the attached report for the newsletter.

Legislative Report

Dean Marlin, Legislative Committee chair, provided the following report for the newsletter.

WCI WASHINGTON MEETINGS (“FLY-IN”) WILL BE VIRTUAL

- WCI held its virtual board meeting on February 23 – but the most recent information places the annual “Fly-In” date to somewhere in mid-April. A registration link will be sent to all interested, and we will report more as soon as the information becomes available.

INLAND WATERWAYS USERS BOARD

- This vital working group which was canceled at the end of January by the DOD (along with 41 other User Advisory Boards), will likely be resumed. Army Corps spokesman Eugene Pawlick recently stated that “the Inland Waterways Users Board is a legislated advisory Committee subject to a federal act so cannot be abolished without congressional action. The Army is being proactive in performing the steps necessary to return the Board to Active status.

BIDEN ADMINISTRATION – POTENTIAL EFFECT ON THE INLAND WATERWAYS

- As customary for a new administration – Biden will not release their fiscal year budget request (typically presented in early February) – until late March or April.

- A significant part of Biden’s anticipated mid-March address to Congress will be the long-awaited $2 trillion infrastructure bill. This is next up on the “table” as Congress has now cleared the impeachment trial and the Covid -19 relief package (which, at this writing, is expected to vote 3/9 and become signed into law shortly thereafter).

INFRASTRUCTURE

- The American Society of Civil Engineers has released their Infrastructure Report Card published once every 4 years. This report covers 17 infrastructure categories including inland waterways locks and dams, roads, levees, drinking water - and more. This year they rated our waterways infrastructure as a “D+” (as opposed to a “D” in 2017). The progress is due to an increase in private investment in ports as well as federal grant programs. Recommendations include further improvement of the WRDA cost share to a 75/25 mix, developing standardized measurement for system delays, and developing a prioritization and appropriations system that can fund more-needy projects ... View the report on www.infrastructurereportcard.org.
- The bipartisan Policy Center and US Chamber of Commerce have reported that a new infrastructure bill could generate an estimated 11 million jobs and help rebuild the economy.

ADDITIONAL

- Marine Supply Chain Issues ... Senators Wicker (R-Miss) and Boozman (R-Ark) have sent a letter to the Federal Maritime Commission regarding the supply chain disruptions occurring off of major US Ports. Specifically, a significant increase of importing vessels is creating bottlenecks and costs (demurrage and competitive disadvantages).
- On March 3, the Port of Pittsburgh Commission released their Economic Impact Study and it can be found at www.portpitt.com.

Army Corp of Engineers

John P. Dilla of the USACOE provided the attached report for the newsletter.
